Narrative Stories (names withheld)

Each of the following stories demonstrate how Lake City Partners' (LCP) integrated systems approach aligns our community partners with LCP's Outreach, Day Center, and Shelter programs to serve those most vulnerable and in need. This approach creates the opportunity for our Client Services team to successfully support our collective clients within the county-wide coordinated entry system to access permanent supportive housing and break a cycle of failed promises and missed opportunities.

How an integrated services pathway ended homeless for a couple

After an unexpected and abrupt end to their living situation, M and R found themselves displaced, uncertain of where to turn. With nowhere else to go, they sought refuge at Tent City 4 in Lake City. It was here, in the midst of their struggle, that they first came to our GLA Day Center. That visit marked a turning point in their journey, as they accessed essential resources like showers, laundry and daily connection with our staff as they began to rebuild their lives.

We quickly completed a referral to our Aurora Oaks Enhanced Shelter, offering them hope, and 7 weeks later were able to offer them a shelter spot. Our Client Services team continued to connect them with further resources that were aligned with their needs to support an opportunity for a better future such as enrollment in the Rapid Rehousing program, an important step toward securing stability.

After enduring the hardships of homelessness together for years, February 2025 finally brought the breakthrough they had been waiting for—permanent housing.

This milestone marked not just the end of a long struggle, but the beginning of a hopeful new chapter in their lives, a testament to their resilience and determination.

From Tent to Front Door

JS had been staying at Tent City 4 for a while when he first began visiting the GLA Day Center. What started as occasional check-ins soon became a regular part of his routine, as he sought resources to help turn his life around.

After several months, our client services team completed a coordinated entry enrollment, and it quickly became clear that JS was an ideal candidate for 55+ housing. Despite a lengthy wait and no immediate opportunities the search for the right place continued. After several months, a promising listing for a 55+ building surfaced and we nominated JS right away. The very next day, JS was selected.

With the approval came a whirlwind of paperwork, but with the team's support, JS navigated the process smoothly. Just a few weeks later, he stood in front of a new door, his name on the lease, keys in hand. It was when he stepped inside his new apartment that the reality hit. Walking through the apartment, JS realized this wasn't just another place he would pass through.

This was home. No more carrying his life in a backpack. No more uncertainty. It was a fresh start, and for the first time in a long time, JS felt something he hadn't in years — security.

Finding the correct service match leads to a housing solution

E was living in an abandoned house without running water or electricity for over a year. She reached out for help and was connected to the Recovery Navigators Program (RNP).

However, E did not fit the profile of someone RNP seeks to assist, as their focus is on those with addiction issues, so she was referred to Lake City Partners. We were able to move her into permanent housing near where her family and support system is. She is in senior housing run by Imagine Housing to support her as her needs evolve.

This is the first permanent housing E (and her dog Bella!) have had in over a decade, and it is thanks to the strong network of providers working together in King County.

Congratulations, E! We are so glad you and Bella have a home.

Staying in relationship over time and meeting people where they are

K is an example of how the journey to housing can be long and challenging. At Lake City Partners we know that the driver of housing success is being in relationship with people – no matter how long it takes.

Three years ago, K made contact with us. She had not had shelter since her husband passed away in 2014 and due to her behavioral health limitations and needs she was not able to come into shelter. Our Outreach team members persisted in their steady support of to meet her where she was at, and over time they were able to set K up with supportive services.

Finally, this March, that original outreach worker – who is now a manager in our Client Services team – was able to move K into her very own apartment.

Our staff member extends a special thank you to all of the LCP staff, partners, and community members who have supported K on this journey – you know who you are – and we all offer K congratulations on her new home!
